Children's Special Health Services (CSHS)

Caring for kids with chronic illnesses and disabilities

The purpose of Children's Special Health Services is to provide services for children with special health care needs and their families and promote family-centered, community-based, coordinated services and systems of health care.

Though CSHS exercises discretion in defining the population eligible for services, the following programs address many of the needs experienced by children and their families.

The CSHS Administration provides leadership and support to state and local partners so they can implement health service system improvements.

The Specialty Care Program provides payment for authorized services to qualified providers serving eligible children with special health care needs in order to increase access to pediatric specialty care.

The Multidisciplinary Clinic Program provides comprehensive pediatric evaluations and coordinated care recommendations for children with special health care needs in order to help families effectively manage their child's chronic health condition in the most effective manner.

The Care Coordination Program provides community-based case management services for children with special health care needs and their families in order to assure access to necessary, comprehensive services.

The Metabolic Food Program provides medical food and low-protein modified food products to individuals with PKU and MSUD in order to increase access to necessary dietary treatment therapies.

The Information Resource Center provides public information services to families and service providers in order to increase access to health care information and resources.

The Russell Silver Syndrome Program provides growth hormone treatment and medical food for individuals birth through 18 years of age with Russell Silver Syndrome in order to increase access to needed treatment.

Data Systems Development within CSHS provides data on the health status of children with special health care needs in order to support evidence-based decisions for program development and service delivery.

- ♥ Cardiac Care for Children provides evaluation and diagnostic services for North Dakota children with cardiac conditions. The program covers examinations done in North Dakota by participating pediatric cardiologists and routine tests to support cardiac assessments. Care coordination services are provided through periodic recall and linkage or referral to other services and programs.
- ♥ It is preferred that children be screened by their primary care physician (PCP) before being referred. Medicaid and some insurance plans require a referral from the child’s PCP.
